

Deputy Suspended for Hitting, Threatening Man who Declined to be Searched

A New York sheriff's deputy was suspended late this week after a viral video surfaced that appeared to show him slapping and threatening a man who declined to let him search his car without a warrant.

The deputy, reported by multiple media outlets to be Sgt. Shawn Glans, has been removed from duty without pay pending an investigation, the Saratoga County Sheriff's Office confirmed.

You will never see that happen in Cattaraugus County New York, where all they do is cover up this type of criminal conduct, especially if it involves a Sheriffs Deputy who has already been sued for similar actions and perjury in Federal Court. More on this story here.