

You won't believe how police officers are now forced to use you as a cash-cow

As more and more officers across the country expose quota systems within their departments the mission of the American police officer is becoming quite clear; revenue generator.

As there is no money in solving murders or preventing rapes, police departments in America have focused their duties on traffic citations and the drug war. Both of these venues are highly profitable for departments. Read the full story here..